Castlemorton Environmental Group

Winter 2024 update:

Since the summer update we have continued our programme of talks with topics including:
Wildlife ponds and wetlands by Finley Reynolds of Worcestershire Wildlife Trust

Rewilding – Dr Beverley Adams-Groom spoke about rewilding projects she had visited in the UK and Europe and showed the film 'Rewilding'.

Topics planned for spring 2025 include:
February 13 - Beavers – followed sometime later by the opportunity to visit a beaver lodge in the Forest of Dean – date to be confirmed
February 27 - An account of building an eco-friendly house by local residents Andy Sayers and Tracey Lillington – we plan to have a few related stalls at this event from local companies.

We have continued to run the plastic free stall at local events including Welland Fete, Poolbrook Community Market and Colwall Greener Retrofitting event.

We expect to have more free tree saplings to distribute in the coming months and will notify those on the mailing list who will have first choice, followed by a notice on Castlemorton Facebook page for the wider community.

The bat count ended late summer and will recommence late spring 2025.

The Churchyard Project continues with a group of volunteers carrying out the necessary work. Please see the write-up in the projects section on the website and we welcome others to become involved.

We are aware of the problems caused by local flooding and are planning to put on future talks on flood mitigation with a view to exploring what we can do locally to reduce the problem.

We welcome resident's views of the work of the group and your ideas regarding future topics/projects. We would also invite residents to come along to our meetings and become involved.

Next CEG meeting is Wednesday 15th January at Castlemorton Parish Hall commencing at 7pm.
